

Batching Pigs Specification Sheet

Batching Pigs are multi-purpose. They are used for product separation and to scrape and clean the pipe wall. This picture shows a typical 30" batching pig used in long lengths of pipeline (many hundreds of kilometers). It consists of a three-part steel body, a lead disc, two scraper cups, two additional discs, and a tail scraper cup.

