

Construction Pigs Specification Sheet

Construction Pigs typically have steel bodies with at least two scraper cups, an aluminum gauging plate, and possibly the inclusion of brushes. They are used during construction to confirm that the gauging plate passes through, and to help clean up welding slag and debris.

